She holds the record for most career individual world titles of all time and is also the first swimmer in history to win seven consecutive world titles in an individual event (800m freestyle). In 2024, Katie became the first woman in Olympic history to win the same individual event at four-straight Olympics (800m freestyle). Katie has broken 17 World Records and 44 American Records.

Katie's 2024 memoir, Just Add Water, became an instant New York Times' Best-Seller. Katie is passionate about the importance of education, especially STEM and leadership programs for girls. Katie also serves on Athletes for Hope's Athlete Leadership Council, helping inspire the next generation of leaders through service and community engagement. She volunteers with AFH's CHAMPS program, which provides youth mental health, wellness, and leadership education and support to more than 400,000 young people each month nationwide.

The Mia Hamm Service Award honors an elite athlete who embodies Mia's commitment to utilizing their global platform to help others in need in the U.S. and beyond.

Santana Moss

Morty Gudelsky Community Hero Award

Santana Moss grew up in Miami, Florida, and rose from the streets of Carol City to the bright lights of the NFL. A first-round draft pick out of the University of Miami, Moss went on to play 14 seasons in the league, becoming one of the most electrifying wide receivers of his era. Best known for his decade with the Washington Commanders, he ranks among the franchise's all-time leaders in receptions and receiving yards, with unforgettable performances that cemented his place in team history.

Off the field, Moss has been equally committed to his community. Through his 89 Ways to Give Foundation — named after his jersey number — he has dedicated himself to youth development, mentorship, and fighting food insecurity across the DMV. From football camps and school supply drives to clinics for children with special needs, Moss remains a constant presence in the communities that matter most to him. In 2025, his impact both on and off the field was immortalized when he was inducted into the Washington Commanders Ring of Fame.

The Morty Gudelsky Community Hero Award recognizes an elite athlete who has demonstrated a commitment to giving back to underserved populations and/or causes in the Greater Washington, D.C. region.

Alan Meltzer

Gordon & Llura Gund Lifetime Hero Award

Alan Meltzer has dedicated his life to creating lasting impact through service, leadership, and philanthropy. A successful entrepreneur and civic leader, he and his wife Amy have made transformational investments at American University to support student-athletes, academic excellence, and leadership development, including funding major athletic and academic facilities that help students succeed on and off the field. Through the Alan and Amy Meltzer Family Foundation, he also supports youth sports, education access, health research, cultural institutions, and community nonprofits. His commitment to opening doors for future generations and strengthening communities reflects the spirit of the Gordon & Llura Gund Lifetime Hero Award.

The Gordon & Llura Gund Lifetime Hero Award honors individuals whose lives reflect an extraordinary commitment to service, resilience, and philanthropy. Named for Gordon Gund and Llura Gund, the award recognizes leaders who embody the same spirit of generosity and impact the couple has demonstrated throughout their lives—from Gordon's leadership of the Cleveland Cavaliers to the Gunds' co-founding of the Foundation Fighting Blindness and their enduring commitment to advancing research, the arts, and community initiatives.

About Athletes for Hope

Athletes for Hope (AFH) is a national nonprofit organization that was founded in 2006 by a group of 12 high-profile and philanthropically-minded athletes, including Muhammad Ali, Mia Hamm, and Andre Agassi. As athletes who share a deep commitment to giving back, they joined forces to create an organization that educates, inspires, and empowers athletes at all levels to find their passions in community and then connects them to under-resourced communities and organizations to positively impact the lives of millions of individuals around the world.

AFH has grown to become the largest athlete-led sports philanthropy organization in the U.S., with a network of thousands of athletes. AFH recently launched its newly formed Athlete Leadership Council (ALC), spearheaded by esteemed athletes Stephen Curry, Katie Ledecky, Elena Delle Donne, Nathan Chen, and Gabby Thomas. Our core programs focus on underserved youth physical activity, leadership, and mental health, positively impacting more than 400,000 underserved students every month.
